WAGON CRUSHES YOUNG FARMER

Chest Caved in when Taneytown Man's Foot Slips and he Falls under Empty Wagon. Was Unmarried. Funeral To-Day.

Charles Newcomer, aged twenty three years, of near Taneytown, was internally injured on Monday afternoon when he slipped and was run over by a heavy four horse wagon. The young farmer died a few hours afterwards at a neighboring farm house.

The unfortunate man was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Newcomer.

It is understood that he was returning to his farm from Taneytown and was walking alongside the unloaded wagon. A colt was running along with one of the horses and for some reason two of them suddenly became frightened. Mr. Newcomer grabbed for the lines and was about to pull on them, when he slipped and fell beneath the wheels. The wagon passed over his chest, crushing it and breaking his collar bone. He was able to get up and walk a distance of a quarter of a mile to the nearest farmhouse. There a physician was summoned but Newcomer died shortly before seven o'clock.

The body was taken to the home of his parents and the funeral was held this morning, interment being made in the cemetery at Taneytown. Besides his parents, Mr. Newcomer is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Keilholz and Miss Anna Newcomer.

NO SECOND TERM

Mr. Beales Unwilling to Sacrifice Family, Business or Constituents.

The York Dispatch publishes an interview with Congressman Beales in which he says he will not be a candidate for or accept a re-nomination for Congress, giving as his reasons that he realized immediately after assuming the duties of the office that, to honestly and conscientiously perform the same for the best interest of his constituents he would be compelled not only to sacrifice his business but neglect his family. He concludes:

"As my family's future welfare depends upon my business and my attention to home duties, I do not feel justified in sacrificing the interest of my constituents.

"This determination on my part will not prevent me from faithfully and conscientiously serving my constituents until the expiration of my term, March 4, 1917.

WILL IMPROVE LOCAL STORE

Modern Front to be Built. Room to be Enlarged, and Many Changes Made to Provide Modern Establishment.

Plans to convert the entire first floor of the Masonic Building into a modern store-room, complete in all its appointments have been made by Roy P. Funkhouser, owner of the building, who stated this morning that the work would be started early in February.

A complete new front will be built on the first floor, extending the entire width of the structure and including the space now occupied by the three display windows and the stairway leading to the second story. The entrance will be between two large display windows, five and one half feet in depth, and on either side of this entrance-way will be other large windows of a similar character, giving the approach to the store every appearance of a metropolitan business house.

The approach to the second and third floors will be placed on the southern side of the building next to the entrance of the newspaper office which now occupies quarters there. Entrance to that office will remain at the present location, but an extension will be built to the mechanical part of the establishment running south to the alley, and the room on the southeast side of the building, now used by the print shop, will be merged into the store room.

The present partition between the men's and ladies' departments of the Funkhouser store will be taken out, and the office moved to a balcony. New and modern designed fixtures will be installed, and the entire store beautified. Mr. Funkhouser, it is understood, intends, upon the completion of the improvements, to include some other lines of clothing and furnishings which he has not made a special feature heretofore.

The plans for the remodeling of the building have been prepared by Architect Crowe.

LICENSE COURT MOVES FASTER

Three Other Proprietors among those Called in Hotel Washington Case at Morning Session.

Examination of witnesses in the remonstrance against the Washington Hotel was accelerated considerably today. Seven were heard during the morning session.

The first of these was Klinefelter, the proprietor, who had not finished his testimony as a witness of the remonstrants. Practically the only thing asked him was the time of day during which the most business is done. His reply was that, at this time of year, there was no specially busy time of day.

Henry Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg, was called next. He testified that he employed extra help to operate his restaurant only during the summer time, that in the winter months merely cold meats and sandwiches were served there. He said that, while there is a stable connected with the hotel, it is sublet to another party; that his bar is never overtaxed and that he had very little colored excursion trade, avoiding it by locking the front and rear doors of his bar-room.

P. M. Bruner, proprietor of the City Hotel, said that there was a stable in connection with his hotel; that he did not have much colored excursion trade, and his bar is overtaxed only on big days.

Frank Eberhart, proprietor of the Eagle Hotel, said his bar is frequently filled to such an extent on big days that the trade can not be conveniently accommodated. Mr. Eberhart stated that he thought it was necessary to have places to accommodate the three classes of trade coming to town, viz: the people who demand the best, those who want economical accommodations and those who cannot afford to pay the prices the character of his service demands.

Dr. Granville, president of the college, then took the stand and read items from an elaborately prepared statement showing the estimated number of people, among the residents and visitors to the town, who desire drink. He was examined concerning the fitness of the applicant as well as the necessity for the hotel. In response to the first question concerning the fitness of the applicant he said, he based his opinion of "unfitness," on what he has observed myself and on his general reputation."

Asked what he had observed, he replied, "Primarily, seeing drunken people going in and out." Dr. Granville also stated he thought the obstruction on the sidewalk of Railroad street, consisting of empty beer kegs and boxes, was disagreeable. "On colored excursion days," Dr. Granville said, "I have seen drunken and disorderly people going in and out upon two occasions, and congregating about the place." He also said he thought the Washington House unnecessary "based on the population and the percentage entitled, according to law, to drink."

In giving the basis for his estimates, Dr. Granville went on the theory that one half of the male population of mature age wanted to "sober drinks" that one woman to every twenty five men wanted to drink; that ninety thousand people from out of the county visited Gettysburg each year, and that one hundred and eighty thousand visits were made to the town by county people in a year's time. Striking an average from these figures he said a total of 500 people would want to purchase a drink in any one day. The present estimated capacity of six bars in town was 1725 customers a day, between the period of opening and closing hours.

On his cross-examination, Dr. Granville said he had no knowledge from actual observation as to necessity for liquor that he is opposed to the liquor traffic and that, provided his estimate or assumptions in his prepared statement were wrong, then the evils arrived at were also in error.

Jacob Radbill, a college student and resident of town, was next called. He testified that he had "observed" with the past year that the Washington Hotel was a disorderly place. He said the place was not necessary; that he was a Prohibitionist; that, if almost had to hold my nose shut when

TIME LIMIT ON THE CONTRACTS

Must Soon be Sent or Players are Automatically Released. Frostburg Decides to Come in. Get Ball Park.

It is understood that the national base ball commission has changed the date of sending contracts to players from February 1 to January 27, and managers of the Blue Ridge League teams must bear this in mind in sending out contracts for this year.

The base ball law requires that all Class D players must be sent contracts on or before a certain time—heretofore February 1—of each year. Failure of any club to send a player this contract automatically releases the players from all reservation by the club he played with, and makes him a free agent. This rule was adopted to protect players, and give them an opportunity to sign elsewhere after February 1 if their old club did not wish their services.

Some clubs have been getting around this clause by sending contracts to their old players and thus holding them to see whether they may get other players equally as good, or better, by the time the playing season opens. Managers have a right to release players at will, and by using this means, may keep strings on their old players, and either retain them for the season or release them in accordance with the manner the new material is developed or fails to develop.

Of course, all teams in the Blue Ridge circuit must cut down to a certain number before the opening of the season, and the surplus players therefore have an opportunity to look for jobs elsewhere.

Frostburg on Wednesday night fell in line behind Cumberland and both teams will send their consent to an invitation extended by the league.

When it appeared that Frostburg would back down at the last moment on account of some contention with the owners of the base ball park, Hammond Heese, general superintendent of the Consolidated Coal Company and a wealthy citizen, of that place, late Wednesday evening donated to the Frostburg base ball association a site for a park. This offer was immediately accepted and word sent to Cumberland that Frostburg would accept the invitation from the Blue Ridge League to become a part of that organization.

NO PEACE FOR MONTENEGRO

Breaks Off Parley With Austria, Says French Envoy.

THE TERMS ARE TOO SEVERE

King Nicholas Will Go to Italy, in Report in London—Greek Situation Confused.

London, Jan. 20.—Official announcement was made at the French embassy that peace negotiations between Austria and Montenegro have been broken off.

Austria's conditions were found unacceptable by the Montenegrin government. King Nicholas will go to Italy.

According to advices from Geneva the Montenegrin forces involved in the truce numbered 35,000 infantry and 17,000 artillerymen. General Koevess, Austrian commander, had demanded that the Serbians fighting with the Montenegrins also surrender, but most of the Serbs succeeded in escaping across the Albanian border.

The Serbian legation in Paris has officially denied the rumors that Serbia was about to make a separate peace, but it was said that Austria twice had made propositions, the second of which came just before the occupation of Nish.

Charges that Montenegro has been guilty of treachery to the entente were denounced as "baseless untrue" at the Montenegrin legation at Paris. The legation issued an official statement, saying that Montenegro surrendered only because the munitions of the army were exhausted.

A charge that Montenegro agreed with Austria even before the outbreak of the war to cede Mount Lovcen and that the defence of the mountain was only sufficient to lull the suspicions of the allies is made by a correspondent of the Idea Nazionale, of Rome.

"Montenegro allowed the Austrians to take Kuc, which was practically impregnable," says the correspondent "and when the government retired to Podgoritz, M. Gikunavitch, president of the state council, and other high officials remained in Cetinje with orders to yield the capital to the Austrians without opposition."

"Italy recently sent an enormous quantity of provisions to revictual the Montenegrin and Serbian armies. The provisions were left rotting on the quays at San Giovanni di Medua."

A Sofia despatch to the Neue Presse of Vienna, according to Amsterdam advices, announces that the Greek government sent a note to the diplomatic representatives of the allies demanding the evacuation of Greek territory occupied by Anglo-French troops.

This report follows others emanating from German sources of new landings of allied troops in Greece, and of an entente ultimatum to Athens. The Greek government was said to have been ordered to hand the Teuton Turk and Bulgarian ministers their passports within forty-eight hours. Allied forces were said to have been landed at Piraeus, Plosteron and Corinth.

No official confirmation of any of these reports is obtainable from allied sources.

JOHNSTOWN GIRL MURDER VICTIM

Cleveland Police Believe She Was Strangled.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—Betty Meyers, nineteen years old, of Johnstown, Pa., may have been the girl known as "Dolores Evans," an actress, who was strangled in a downtown hotel here last week.

The effort to identify the slain girl extended to Johnstown, when police learned a vaudeville actress giving the name of Betty Meyers, was married in Elyria, Ohio, last summer to "Dan" Whitley, a carnival performer. She gave her home as Johnstown, and said her father was Joseph Meyers.

Following publication of assertions by Mayor Harry L. Davis, of that city, that the Cleveland police detective department bungled in handling the murder case, Captain Alfred Walker, head of the detective bureau, resigned.

Mayor Davis has promised a shake-up in the detective force. He has issued a criticism of the bureau for permitting the slayer of the Evans girl to get out of town.

Cleveland officers in New York, to bring Louis Bianchetti back for trial are expected here with the prisoner since the requisition has been granted.

London, Jan. 20.—A despatch received by Reuters' Telegram company says Emperor William was in Nish, Serbia, according to this information, which was forwarded from Nish by way of Berlin, the German emperor met King Ferdinand of Bulgaria at Nish.

"The monarchs greeted each other cordially," the despatch says, "and then reviewed from the citadel a procession of Bulgarian, Macedonian and German troops."

"The emperor presented King Ferdinand with a field marshal's baton, and the king appointed the emperor as honorary commander of a Bulgarian infantry regiment."

WOMAN SUICIDE BELIEVED SPY

Wilkes-Barre Police Probe Action of Mrs. Marie Leahm.

SHOT HERSELF IN HOME

A Code Book With Messages in German is Found—Husband Says She Handled Large Sums of Money.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Marie Leahm, aged forty, a native of Germany, and said to be the wife of August Leahm, a mill worker, is believed by the authorities here to have been a spy in the employ of the German government, and through whom large sums of money were paid to spies of the Fatherland in England.

Her self-inflicted death brought to light evidence which Deputy Coroner Stanley Kuryloski believes will substantiate the theory that the mysterious woman was one of the secret agents in the great spy system of the Kaiser.

Mrs. Leahm was found dead in her home with a bullet wound in the head and a revolver clutched in her right hand. The only motive for the suicide was found in a note written by her, in which it was stated that the cause of her death would be found on page 29 of a memorandum book which she had left.

Inspection of this book brought to light several disconnected German sentences, which are believed to have been a code system which the woman employed in her work. On an opposite page were the names of fifty persons, after which appeared large sums of money. There was nothing else to shed light on the woman's act.

In the past year and a half Mrs. Leahm had lived a life of mystery. While her husband claims that he did not mistrust his wife, he is puzzled now to explain what she did with large sums of money she frequently had in her possession. He declared she often had large bundles of currency in her home and neighbors have informed the coroner that Mrs. Leahm often displayed big bundles of paper money.

Leahm said his wife had been making weekly visits to New York City the past year. She told him that she was the agent for property in New York City which was owned by people living in England and that because of the war they were not able to come here and transact their business.

Leahm admitted that his wife told him she had raised large sums by mortgaging the New York property. This money, she said, was converted into gold and at regular intervals was placed in a suitcase and given to the captain of a certain steamship of a certain line.

This captain, the woman once declared, was under secret orders to carry the money to England and give it to people who met his ship at its port of destination.

For eighteen months Leahm admits that his wife was engaged in many ventures. She was seldom at home and in the past four months purchased two automobiles for her own use as the "agent of English people." Shortly before her death, her husband declares, she had $20,000 in cash, but no trace of the money can be found.

Leahm said the woman was the wife of Karl Ficker, who lives in Brooklyn, N. Y. Eight years ago Leahm and the woman came here and not until her death was the fact revealed that they were not married.

URGE U.S. TO MAKE MUNITIONS

Senator Cummins Wants Private Profit Eliminated From War Supplies.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Elimination of private profit as an influence for war by government manufacture of all war munitions was urged in the senate by Senator Cummins, of Iowa, Republican.

He pleaded for prompt adoption of his resolution which would authorize a special committee to inquire into the most feasible plan for acquiring and constructing plants to supply the army and navy with all arms, ammunition and equipment, including ships, and to report on the legislation necessary to prevent private manufacture of such products.

KIDNAPING CHARGE AGAINST RICH MAN

Accused by Husband of Wife's Niece and Suit Begun.

Easton, Pa., Jan. 20.—Irving A. Bachman, widely known throughout Northampton county, through his connection with cement industries, was arrested as he stepped from a trolley car from Nazareth, on a charge of attempting to kidnap the four-year-old son of his wife's niece, Mrs. Warren E. Roth, of Nazareth.

Subsequently papers were served on him in a $25,000 damage suit for alleged alienation of Mrs. Roth's affections.

The charges are brought by Warren E. Roth, the husband and father. The charges are of a sensational character. Bachman is regarded as a mill millionaire. Roth is twenty-four years of age and in the contracting business with his father. His wife is twenty-two, and Bachman is fifty.

Roth accuses Bachman with eloping with Mrs. Roth. He says that on the morning of January 5, Bachman left Nazareth and in the afternoon Mrs. Roth left and has not returned. After a few days Bachman came back. Roth does not know where his wife and child are. She has written letters to friends in Nazareth saying she intends living elsewhere.

When Bachman was arrested in the kidnaping suit bail was fixed at $300 for a hearing. The bail was furnished by Robert E. Bachman, his brother, of Nazareth, who is a member of the "Holy Rollers," got into such a religious frenzy some years ago that he left the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, of Northampton, while they were holding a meeting in Nazareth for which Bachman went to the insane asylum, but was subsequently released as sane.

Bail in $20,000 was required in the abduction suit.

TROLLEY CREW ATTACKED

They Are Severely Beaten by a Mob at Plymouth, Pa.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 20.—A mob of one dozen men attacked a trolley car at Plymouth and administered a severe beating to Samuel Koerber, conductor, and Edward Connor, the crew in charge of the car.

The mob attacked while the car was standing on a switch. As Koerber attempted to turn the trolley he was attacked and was pummeled badly before Connor came to his rescue. Part of the mob went to Connor as he prepared to wield a switch iron and within a few minutes both men had their faces bruised and bleeding, their teeth loosened and their bodies blackened by blows.

Galeton Swept by Fire.
Galeton, Pa., Jan. 20.—Fifteen business houses and twenty residences were destroyed by fire. Low water pressure and a high wind prevented the firemen from successfully combating the blaze. Several buildings were razed with dynamite to check the flames. Among the buildings destroyed were the Galeton Ledger-Despatch, the First Methodist church, Grand Central hotel and Spiegel Opera house. The loss was $200,000.

SERIOUSLY BURNED

Farmer is Badly Injured by Gasoline Flare-Up.

Harry Hammond, a York County farmer, was frightfully burned Wednesday morning when gasoline which he was pouring on the primer of an engine exploded and the blazing fluid saturated his clothing. He was saved from death by the presence of mind of his aged mother who, seeing her son, blazing from head to foot, run by the window, went out and called to him to roll in the snow. His condition is serious, but he is expected to recover.

He was burned from the feet to the knees, on both hands and arms, and about the face and head. His body was protected by heavy underclothing, and he was not severely burned about any vital organ.

Mrs. Hammond succeeded in getting her son into the house, after he had extinguished the blaze by rolling in the snow. Mr. Hammond is a middle aged man, married and has a family.

ARMY OF 200,000 NEEDED IN MEXICO

Experts Figure Intervention Would Cost Huge Sum.

BANDITS LACK AMMUNITION

If War Should Finally Come, Fighting Would Be Different From That in Europe, as Mexicans Would Hide in the Hills and Take Pot Shots at Our Troops.

In spite of the many disastrous changes Mexico has undergone since the overthrow of the Diaz regime, military experts of the United States who are studying the problem insist that the pacification of the country could not be accomplished satisfactorily with fewer than 200,000 men.

Although warfare has impoverished the southern republic, it has brought to the people certain military advantages which can be obtained only through experience. The men who have been engaged in revolutionary activity are veterans in their peculiar kind of warfare. They know the country in which the fighting would be done. They have adapted themselves to the rigors of the field. Their losses in resources are probably more than offset by what they have gained in military experience.

For this reason American army officers who have come in contact with them on the border are of the opinion that the Mexican soldier of today is much more formidable as a fighting unit than he was five years ago or before the revolution began.

Lacking in Ammunition.

In only one respect are they likely to be at a disadvantage. That is the lack of ammunition. The raising of the embargo for a time has enabled them to secure a fairly adequate supply of firearms. It was observed in the fighting along the border that the commanding forces had little artillery, some of it French guns of a very modern type. The Mexicans also displayed some ingenuity in manufacturing weapons in the captured shops of the Southern Pacific railroad.

There are also abundant fairly well equipped, which might be used to furnish a small supply of ammunition. It is probable, however, that at the present time there is not enough ammunition in the country and not enough could be obtained to carry on defensive operations of any magnitude in the face of a well equipped invading army.

But officers of the general staff of the army believe that the lack of ammunition in Mexico is not likely to play so decisive a part in a campaign in that country as it would, for example, in such warfare as is now being carried on in Europe, for the reason that warfare in Mexico would not consist of the clash of opposing armies, but of the chasing of guerrillas, bandits, and desert country would afford innumerable hiding places.

Taft Estimates High.

It was estimated by officers of the general staff during the administration of President Taft that the pacification of Mexico would require 500,000 men and $1,000,000 a day for two years. This was probably an extreme estimate.

But army officers today who have given close study to the situation are not disposed to think the task could not be accomplished with less than 200,000 men and possibly many more. It is estimated that 200,000 at least would be required to control the entire country. How many more than that would be necessary would depend on the attitude of the Mexicans, whether they would accept the situation and content themselves with the fighting indefinitely.

In arriving at these figures the military experts of course consider any contingency and assume that it would be necessary to sweep the country from the Rio Grande to the southern border. In preparing for intervention, however, there are various elements to be considered and various plans of action to be decided upon.

The most important question that would confront the United States if it decided to act would be whether it could do so with the assistance of General Carranza or whether he, as well as Huerta, Villa and the other so-called revolutionary leaders are to be counted as opponents. The possibility that Carranza could prevail over his own supporters from taking arms to defend the "dictator" is considered doubtful.

Outrages to Start Trouble.

Army officers who have been on the border are of the opinion that the recent outrages in Mexico have been perpetrated by Villa to draw intervention and that Carranza is the only one who is in a position to do so. They believe that Carranza is the only one who is in a position to do so.

The Tragedy

When Brother Thomas' Sister was shot with a special rifle and it was before the glass to choose the bullet that he should wear. When he decided the little cape that he had chosen one ear.

And says that all the other chaps are waiting for this year. When he looked in the mirror made of reflection and the brother's mortal fear that Thomas' got a girl.

EDISON BATTERY IS USED BY ONE EUROPEAN NATION.

Inventor's Representative Defends Apparatus on Submarine E-2.

Thomas A. Edison's personal representative and chief engineer, J. C. Will for Edison, has declared that Mr. Edison's submarine battery is to be used in the war in Europe. Up to that moment it had been supposed that the United States had an option on the exclusive use of the device. The tests in which it was to be subjected proved satisfactory.

The announcement came while Dr. H. H. H. was defending the Edison battery in the E-2, in which there was an explosion in the Brooklyn navy yard, against hints and suggestions that the battery had caused the explosion. Dr. H. H. H. said that the battery had caused the explosion.

The Edison battery has been in use on submarines for a long time, and it is not generally known that Mr. Edison is not in the submarine business, and he has not sold any submarine. The fact is that three submarine types of a certain European power were fitted with these batteries. They have not had with any accident.

Some of the best submarine batteries in the world are of the Edison type. The Edison battery has been in use on submarines for a long time, and it is not generally known that Mr. Edison is not in the submarine business, and he has not sold any submarine.

I went past the place one time because of the smell of liquor," he said he had seen drunken people going in and out of the hotel but did not know of a specific instance of Klinefelter selling to these people. On cross examination, Radisill admitted that he had an especially keen sense of smell.

William McG. Tawney was then examined concerning the character of the people he has seen in the hotel. This was conducted in an undertone and was not audible to anyone except the judge, stenographer, and the attorneys, who gathered close to listen.

At the afternoon session Tawney further testified he was one of Klinefelter's license application signers and that he signed because he believed Klinefelter to be a fit man.

Dr. Singmaster, president of the Theological Seminary, said he knew nothing of the place from personal observation, but basing his opinion on calculations along the line presented by Dr. Granville, he thought the place unnecessary. He signed the remonstrance because of persistent rumors to the effect that the place did not observe the requirements of the law and because he wanted to see the matter reviewed before the court; further, that he considered the location of the hotel in its relation to the railroad an objectionable one from the liability of railway men or travelers to drink because of its position.

He had come into contact with drink and its effects in a hundred different ways and from this observation thought the liquor traffic should be confined within strictly narrow limits. Dr. Singmaster also testified as to his familiarity with the reputation of a number of characters of town dressed during the proceeding as inebriates.

William Yingling, concerning whom most of the witnesses were interrogated, testified that he has not purchased liquor from Klinefelter during the past year. He has bought several times from the bartender, but not when he was intoxicated. Bill said, "I work in ashes and sometimes take a drink or two to cut the dust in my throat."

NEW RULING

State and Counties Must Pay to All on Payroll.

The Workmen's Compensation Board on Wednesday adopted a ruling requiring the State to pay all compensation liabilities caused by the injury or death of public officers in any county who are on the payroll of the State. County officials who are paid directly or indirectly by counties or by any officer thereof for services to the county are to be paid by the county. This ruling includes all deputies, clerks, assessors, constables, jurymen, witnesses for the State in criminal cases and like classes of employees.

Another ruling adopted is that the owner of a threshing machine doing work on a farm not his own, for hire, is liable to his engineer and those helpers whom he employs to run the machine. This ruling is also to apply to the owner of an ensilage cutter or any similar machine.

Bill For Defense Highway.

A national highway system, extending from coast to coast and costing not to exceed $100,000,000, is a new defense suggestion contained in a bill introduced in Congress by Representative Stephens of California. The sale of fifty-year 2 percent bonds in denominations of $20 and multiples is proposed as the means of raising the fund.

The bill provides that the highway shall be constructed by army engineers and that its construction and use shall be under such regulations as the president may prescribe.

It is provided that the national defense highway shall begin at Los Angeles, proceed by a practical route to Jacksonville, Fla., thence northward to New York and Portland, Me. At New York the westward trail would start for Chicago, thence to Minneapolis, thence through the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington and thence down the Pacific slope to Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. Rights-of-way through the states are to be acquired by the president.

To Aid the Traveler.

The highway authorities of Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and New Hampshire have agreed that if a traveler is ever in a fix, he can find a way out of it. These states will be marked with post office signs throughout their length, pointing out the way to the nearest post office, so that once started on the road to any place the traveler need only wait for the mailman on the poles to avoid getting off the road.

Depew's Great Speech.
"When I was a very young man," Senator Depew once related, "I went out to make a political speech with some older men one night. They wanted something red hot, and I landed it out."
"I just turned myself to skin the opposition, and, on the whole, the audience seemed to like it. The more they cheered the more I warmed to it. I was immensely pleased with my success. But after I got home I was worried. I had roasted the other side awfully. I lay awake wondering if it wouldn't react and injure our side more than the opposition."
"Then I bethought of some persons allusions I had made that might easily be construed as libelous. I got a good deal excited and slept very little. In the morning I hurried down to see whether the papers had roasted me. The meeting was reported all over the front page. I plunged into it, shivering in nervousness. But I needn't have worried. What it said about my speech was in the last two lines:
"A young man named Depew also spoke."

Nonroyal Headgear.
One of the attaches of the American embassy at London once told a story wherein Michael Joseph Barry, the poet, who was appointed a police magistrate in Dublin, was the principal figure. There was brought before him an Irish American charged with suspicious conduct. The officer making the arrest stated, among other things, that the culprit was wearing a "Republican hat."
"Does your honor know what that means?" was the inquiry put to the court by the accused's lawyer.
"It may be," suggested Barry, "that it means a hat without a crown."

Enlarging Her Part.
George M. Colman, the widely known comedian, engaged a young woman for one of his productions whose ambition exceeded her abilities. One morning she went to Mr. Colman.
"I have only one line in the first act, Mr. Colman," said she, "and but one in the second. Couldn't you give me a line for the third act also?"
Mr. Colman thought for a moment of all the trouble the girl had caused him and of the exalted opinion she had of her poor acting.
"Well, yes," replied Mr. Colman. "During the banquet scene in the third act you may enter and say, 'Here is a ham.'"
"Oh," she exclaimed, "and do I bring a ham on the stage with me?"
"No," answered Mr. Colman; "it is not a speech; it is a confound, in my dear!"

She Loved His Tomb.
An immensely wealthy widow who gave yearly hundreds of thousands to charity decided personally to inspect some individual cases of deserving poverty herself. One of her agents brought before her a poorly clad woman, saying:
"There is a poor old woman, a very decent sort of person. Her husband used to go about with a dancing bear. This creature, though usually very tame and gentle, one day threw itself on its master and ate him up."
"Alas, my good sir," the old woman broke in, "since that moment the poor beast and myself have been without a home."
"What! The beast?" asked the wealthy woman. "Is it the same that devoured your husband?"
"Alas, my good lady, it is that I left to me of the dear lamented one!"
